The fading time of inkjet ink is a direct result of the type of ink used, as well as the environment where the print is displayed. Mounting under glass or lamination will prolong the life of the print. All dye-based inks fade noticeably under direct sunlight and in interior applications where direct sunlight may fall on the image, and/or where fluorescent or other UV lighting is present. Although the fading process is inherent in all inkjet inks, certain UV enhanced inks, pigment-based inks, and UV inhibiting coatings will extend the longevity of ink color. Contact the ink manufacturer to determine a specific ink's suitability for a particular application. Misuse of product, materials or application may be a detriment to the life of the print. LexJet does not guarantee the longevity of the print and will only replace products proven to be defective.
